St. Aidan's Websites – Cookie Policy and Implied Consent

The information included in this document relates to all websites provided by St. Aidan's Church of England High School, including staidans.co.uk and catering4schools.com.

The St. Aidan's websites use cookies which are small data files that are saved to your computer. It is standard practice for websites to use cookies.

By using the St. Aidan's websites you consent to cookies being used, unless you have chosen to disable cookies through your browser settings.

St. Aidan's uses first party cookies for session management and authentication. Our use of cookies to provide authentication is strictly necessary. These cookies are removed from your computer at the end of each browsing session.

For some St. Aidan's websites, we allow the use of third party cookies. Third party cookies may be persistent and are not removed at the end of the session (the expiry date for these persistent cookies varies and is dependent on the third party system). For example, we use Google Analytics* with our staidans.co.uk and catering4schools.com website.
